A message From Alan

The time for change is now. Are you with us?

My name is Alan Tracey, and as the leader of the Progressive Unity Party, I'm honoured to share with you our vision for a fairer, more compassionate, and truly united, United Kingdom.

In recent years, it has become clear that our political system is in desperate need of reform. We've found ourselves caught in the inertia of a two-party system that, too often, leaves voices unheard, ideas unexplored, and issues unresolved. It has fostered division when we need unity and promoted conflict when we need collaboration. But I firmly believe that the power to change this system lies in our hands. Today, we stand at the precipice of a new era — an era defined not by division, but by a shared desire to build a future that works for everyone.

The Progressive Unity Party is not just a political party; it's a movement. A movement grounded in the values of compassion and empathy. A movement that aims to harness the collective strength of our diverse nation. And a movement that believes in the power of progress, unity, and the indomitable spirit of the British people.

In this manifesto, you'll find not only our policies but also our hopes, dreams, and aspirations for our country. From addressing economic disparity, promoting social justice, strengthening our NHS & military, to tackling the climate crisis & illegal immigration — we lay out a comprehensive, progressive vision for the future.

But our vision is not a top-down prescription. It's a dialogue. We're here to listen, learn, and leverage your insights to refine our path forward. Your thoughts, concerns, and aspirations matter to us. Because we're not just building a party — we're building a community. A community that cares, listens, and acts. A community that values every voice.

The Progressive Unity Party is ready to challenge the status quo and reshape the political landscape of the United Kingdom. We're ready to be the party that you deserve. But we can't do this alone. We need your support, your engagement, and, above all, your belief in the possibility of change.

The time for change is now. Together, let's create a compassionate, united, and progressive UK. I invite you to join us on this exciting journey. Let's build a better tomorrow, today.

Sincerely,

Leader of the Progressive Unity Party

Introduction

How we got to where we are today

The state of our politics is at a crossroads. The political landscape we navigate today is marred by division, disillusionment, and a disheartening status quo. We've grown weary of the incessant cycle of broken promises and unexpected U-turns. The two/three-party system, once a symbol of democratic choice, now seems to hinder our progress, marginalise diverse voices, and resist much-needed change. We find ourselves asking: Isn't there a better way?

Yes, there is, and the time for that change is now.

Mission: Our mission is to pioneer a transformative change in the UK's political landscape, fostering a fair, inclusive, and responsive system that places the people's interests at its heart. We strive to replace division with unity, apathy with empathy, and self-interest with compassion. We are committed to driving innovative, actionable policies that address societal challenges, promote social justice, and fuel sustainable economic growth.

We believe in a political system where every voice matters, every promise counts, and every citizen benefits. Through open dialogue, transparency, and unwavering dedication, we aim to restore faith in politics and create a future where everyone has an opportunity to thrive.

Vision: Our vision is of a United Kingdom unified in diversity, where political discourse is marked by compassion, empathy, and mutual respect. We envisage a society where policies are designed with the well-being of all citizens in mind, addressing the needs of the many, not just the few.

We see a future where the political system is not a barrier but a catalyst for progress, encouraging open dialogue, promoting transparency, and upholding the values of fairness and justice. We envision a democracy that genuinely represents its people, where every voice is heard, every concern is addressed, and every promise is honoured.

In our vision, the United Kingdom emerges as a beacon of progressive change, leading the world in social justice, economic prosperity, and sustainable practices. This is a nation in which all citizens share in its success and are empowered to contribute to its continued growth.

Getting our Economy growing again

£2.27t

GDP 2022

6th

Largest in the world

0.3%

GDP Growth for 2023

The UK economy has struggled to grow and get back to pre-pandemic levels. 2023 is set to see growth of 0.3% followed by 0.4% in 2024 and then 0.7% in 2025. This just isn't good enough and we do believe there is so many things that could be done, so we can all be a little bit better off. Below are just some of the things we would propose to make things a little fairer on all and to ensure those with the broadest of shoulders take on their fair share to help support crucial public services and address economic disparities.

Tax:

Closing Tax Loopholes: We pledge to close tax loopholes that have allowed undue advantages to a select few, promoting a more equitable tax system.

Temporary removal of personal allowance for those earning over £100k per year: This temporary measure would raise £3bn per year and would only be in place for the duration of the next Parliament. However, should the economic outlook improve and public sector finances improve, the personal allowance for those over £100k per year would be re-instated.

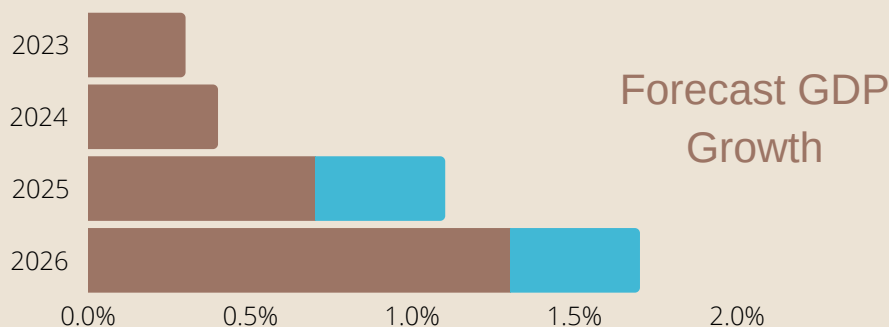

Tax Adjustments: We advocate for adjustments in tax rates, including increases in dividend income tax, corporation tax, and capital gains tax, to support crucial public services and address economic disparities.

Non-Dom Status: We would abolish the non-dom regime. This could generate up to an extra £3.2bn per year, however we would work on a more conservative estimate of £1.5bn per year.

There is no doubt that Brexit has damaged the UK, causing harm to our economy, our people, and our standing in the world. We recognise the need to address this damage and believe in the importance of finding ways to minimise its impact.

In the event that Brexit continues to fail to work for our economy or for the people of the UK, we firmly believe in the principle of fairness. It's only fair to give people the choice to rectify a decision that has had detrimental consequences.

Once the Tories are defeated, The progressive Unity Party envisions a brighter path for the UK. We can sit down with our friends and neighbours in the EU, with the option to negotiate a closer, more pragmatic, and mutually beneficial relationship. Importantly, we can pursue this path without sacrificing our independence or sovereignty. This closer connection with Europe stands as the superior choice economically, environmentally, and security-wise when compared to any other international relationships. The Progressive Unity Party is committed to pursuing such a relationship to boost economic growth, collaborate on crucial environmental policies, and safeguard the security of our nation.

CREATING A BUSINESS FRIENDLY ECO-SYSTEM THAT PROMOTES GROWTH

INNOVATION

We aim to establish a comprehensive National Innovation Framework, focusing on developing tech hubs, incubators, and accelerators across the country. We will also provide tax incentives for businesses that invest in research and development, ensuring that groundbreaking ideas get the financial backing they deserve.

Collaboration between academic institutions and the private sector will be strengthened, encouraging the transfer of knowledge and technology.

SUPPORT

Our party commits to launching the Progressive Business Support Initiative (PBSI), a holistic program designed to assist SMEs and startups at every stage of their journey. This will encompass accessible financing options, training programs, and mentorship opportunities. Regulatory barriers will be reviewed and streamlined, ensuring that bureaucratic red tape does not stifle growth. Moreover, we'll prioritise local businesses in government procurement processes, guaranteeing them a fair shot at significant contracts.

JOBS

To tackle unemployment and underemployment, we will roll out the Progressive Job Creation Strategy. This plan will focus on investing in sectors with high growth potential, such as clean energy, technology, and advanced manufacturing. We'll work closely with educational institutions to ensure curriculums are aligned with market demands, equipping graduates with skills that are in demand. Furthermore, vocational training programs will be expanded, providing avenues for those looking to re-skill and enter new industries.

Providing for a safer future for all

It's undeniable that our armed forces have borne the brunt of budget cuts during the 13 years of Tory austerity measures. The global landscape has evolved significantly, with Russia's invasion of Ukraine and ongoing conflicts such as Hamas launching attacks in Israel. Unfortunately, the world has become more unstable.

In response to these challenges, we firmly believe in the need to make strategic investments in our military capabilities, both for our security at home and our influence abroad. Our plan includes increasing the size of our army to over 175,000 personnel, boosting short-term defense spending to 3% of GDP, and equipping our armed forces with the necessary tools and resources they require to fulfill their missions effectively

CHALLENGES

Despite its storied history and unmatched commitment, the NHS today grapples with a series of challenges. Nurse shortages have placed an immense burden on the existing workforce, leading to fatigue and potential compromises in patient care. Waiting times, a crucial metric of healthcare efficiency, have seen significant increases, causing distress and discomfort to many. Funding, or the lack thereof, remains a pivotal concern, with the current allocations struggling to keep pace with the demands of a growing and ageing population.

Additionally, partnerships with private healthcare providers will be explored to manage patient overflow during peak periods.

WHAT ELSE WILL WE DO

- Integrated Health and Social Care Systems: Establish a more integrated system where health and social care services collaborate seamlessly. This can ensure that patients receive a continuum of care, from hospital treatment to rehabilitation or home care, without bureaucratic hurdles or delays. Such an approach can reduce hospital readmission rates and ensure that individuals receive the most appropriate care for their needs.
- Mental Health Focus: Allocate more resources to mental health services, ensuring that they are on par with physical health services. Establish more mental health facilities, increase training for mental health professionals, and launch public awareness campaigns to reduce stigma. An effective mental health strategy can have positive ripple effects across the health and social care sectors.
- Technological Advancements: Embrace and invest in technological innovations such as telemedicine, digital health records, and AI-driven diagnostic tools. These advancements can improve efficiency, reduce costs, and increase the accessibility of care, especially in remote or underserved areas.
- Workforce Development and Well-being: Prioritise the recruitment, training, and retention of health and social care professionals. This includes offering competitive compensation packages, opportunities for professional development, and ensuring workplace well-being. A motivated and well-trained workforce is crucial for delivering high-quality care.
- Community and Preventative Care: Shift some focus from reactive to preventative care by promoting community health initiatives. This can include public health campaigns on topics like nutrition, exercise, smoking cessation, and regular health check-ups. By catching potential health issues early or preventing them altogether, the system can reduce the burden of more severe and costly treatments down the line.

By addressing these areas in tandem with the challenges of nurse numbers, waiting times, and funding, the UK can build a health and social care system that's robust, inclusive, and primed to meet the needs of its citizens now and in the future.

POLICING & THE COMMUNITY

COMMUNITY POLICING

We believe that a visible and accessible police force is crucial to community safety. To this end, we will increase funding to hire an additional 20,000 police officers over the next five years, ensuring a more robust police presence in neighbourhoods. Officers will be trained not just in law enforcement, but in community engagement, fostering trust and collaboration between the police and the people they serve.

CRIME PREVENTION INITIATIVES

Recognising that prevention is as crucial as response, we will invest in community-based crime prevention programs. These initiatives will include mentorship programs for at-risk youth, community workshops on safety, and partnership programs between local businesses, schools, and the police to create cohesive strategies to deter crime.

TRAINING AND EQUIPMENT

Our officers must be equipped not only with the tools but also with the knowledge to respond effectively to modern challenges. We'll introduce advanced training modules on cybercrime, domestic violence, and mental health. Simultaneously, officers will receive modern equipment, including upgraded communication tools, to respond swiftly and effectively to emergencies.

DEDICATED TO CUTTING CRIME IN OUR COMMUNITIES

BUILDING A SAFER, MORE ENGAGED UK

WHY CHOOSE US?

In a world where the dynamics of crime are continually evolving, the Progressive Unity Party stands unwaveringly committed to ensuring the safety and security of every citizen. Our comprehensive plan showcases a vision that goes beyond just increasing police numbers; it's about community engagement, proactive crime prevention, and leveraging modern technology for a more effective response. We're investing in our police force, not just in numbers, but in training, equipment, and fostering a culture of trust and accountability. With initiatives like advanced training modules, partnerships with mental health and social services, and a focus on transparency, we're poised to usher in an era where our streets are safer and our communities are more cohesive. For a future where policing is not just about enforcement but about community collaboration, where every individual feels protected and heard, make the choice for the Progressive Unity Party.

Transparency & Accountability

Trust in our police force is paramount. We'll introduce measures to ensure that police actions are transparent and officers are accountable. This will include mandatory body cameras for all frontline officers and an independent review board to assess and act on complaints against the police, ensuring unbiased investigations.

Partnerships

Many situations police encounter involve individuals with mental health issues or social challenges. By forming partnerships with mental health professionals and social service agencies, we can ensure that individuals receive the care and support they need, reducing the burden on the police and the criminal justice system.

Innovative Technology

We'll harness the power of technology to aid in crime detection and prevention. This includes the use of AI-driven surveillance systems to monitor high-risk areas, predictive policing algorithms to foresee potential crime hotspots, and digital platforms for residents to report crimes or suspicious activities swiftly.

Immigration & our 10 point plan.

We would take back control. It's not just words to us.

The challenges of immigration and our approach.

Immigration, when managed properly, can be a source of enrichment, bringing in valuable skills and diversifying the cultural tapestry of a nation. However, the UK faces significant challenges in this domain. Uncontrolled immigration can strain public resources, depress wages, and affect the social fabric of communities. Moreover, illegal immigration undermines the rule of law and can be associated with a myriad of other challenges including illicit activities.

Policies for a Comprehensive Immigration Strategy:

- 1. Strengthen Border Controls: Deploy modern technology at all entry points to monitor and manage the flow of individuals, ensuring only those with valid reasons enter the UK.
- 2. Prioritise Skilled Immigration: Develop a points-based system, similar to countries like Canada and Australia, which prioritises immigrants with skills that are in demand within the UK, such as healthcare professionals, engineers, and scientists.
- 3. Fast-Track Visa Process for Critical Sectors: Simplify and expedite visa procedures for sectors facing acute shortages, ensuring that sectors like the NHS can swiftly recruit the talent they need.
- 4. Robust Action Against Illegal Entry: Allocate resources to curtail human trafficking and illegal entry. This involves collaborating with international partners to dismantle smuggling networks and investing in maritime security to prevent illegal boat arrivals. On top of this, anyone we pick up, we send straight back.
- 5. Offshore Processing Centres: Consider the establishment of offshore processing centres for asylum seekers, ensuring their applications are processed quickly and fairly. Genuine refugees can be resettled swiftly, while others can be returned to their home countries.
- 6. Reform the Immigration Department: The current system requires an overhaul to make it more efficient and focused. Creating a dedicated Department of Immigration, separate from the Home Office, can streamline processes and ensure that policies are implemented effectively.
- 7. Public Awareness Campaigns: Launch awareness campaigns highlighting the dangers of illegal immigration and the benefits of legal pathways. This would deter potential illegal immigrants and encourage them to use official channels.
- 8. International Collaboration: Work with origin and transit countries to address the root causes of illegal migration and to create pathways for legal migration.
- 9. Transparency in Asylum Adjudication: Ensure that the process of granting asylum is transparent, quick, and efficient, thereby reducing the burden on public resources.
- 10. Community Integration Programs: For those who arrive legally, provide integration programs that help them adapt, understand British values, and contribute positively to their communities.

By implementing these policies, we aim to create a balanced approach that recognises the benefits of legal immigration while taking strong measures against illegal entry, ensuring that the UK remains a nation that is both welcoming and secure.

Why choose us for Immigration

In an era of global movements and evolving socio-economic challenges, the Progressive Unity Party understands the nuanced intricacies of immigration more than any. Our policies are crafted with a deep appreciation for the value that legal immigrants bring, whilst upholding the rule of law and protecting the UK's interests against illegal entries.
